Afternoon Talk – “A Search for Focus” a talk about things that Leigh enjoys photographing. It includes Landscape, Urban, Sport, Concert and Travel

Leigh has been interested in photography for as long as he can remember. His first proper experiences of photography came as a result of visiting Formula One Grands Prix all over Europe in the eighties.

Membership of Gwynfa Camera Club followed as he sought to widen his subject matter and a love of taking landscapes was born. These days Leigh will have a stab at photographing anything, but landscapes remain his passion. For him the joy of photography is being there, standing at some remote location with a complicated box of Japanese electronics thinking “what can I make of this...?”

Around twelve years ago he put his head above the parapet and became a competition judge. Since then he’s judged at all levels from club competitions to international Salons to the AWPf adjudication team and to the National DPI Championships at Warwick.
