

ONE FOR YOUR DIARIES?

At the Going Down of the Sun, looks to be a great Exhibition. I bet it's very emotive but how appropriate? Maybe even an inspiration for you to try in your own photography?

A bit of a jaunt perhaps for some, who live further down in our area - but if you're going to be near Bristol on Friday 21st September. I really think it will be worth taking time out to have a look, in this important year; 100 years since the cessation of hostilities in France.
